PERSEVERANCE

The Bride, white of hair, stoops over her cane,
Her footsteps, uncertain, need guiding,
While down the church aisle, with a man, toothless
smile,
The groom in a wheelchair comes riding.

And who is this elderly couple, thus wed?
You'll find when you've closely explored it,
That here is that rare, most conservative pair
Who waited 'til they could afford it.

A FEW ECTIONS

Two fools had cars they thought perfection;

They met one day at an intersection,

Tooted their horns and made connection.

A police car came and made inspection;

An ambulance came and made collection.

All that is left is a recollection

And two less votes in the next election.
